Refuses to Aid Perkins in Clearing Up Political Murder Plot.

FUGITIVE NOT ON ATHINAL

Rocco Carnivale, who was brought down from Clinton prison last Saturday in the hope that he would be of material aid to District Attorney Perkins in clearing up the killing of Michael Galmari, an election district captain for Thomas F. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly district, has been a disappointment up to date. If he does turned to Dannemora. He is under a sentence of from twenty years to life imprisonment as being the agent who hired Gaetano Montimagno to kill Galmari for $300. mari for $300.

Carnivale was a close companion of Michael Rofrano, for a year a deputy in the Department of Street Cleaning, who is now a fugitive from justice on a charge of murder. A wireless message was sent to Capt. Peter McLean of the Tuscania asking gone to Montiglia's rooms, at 284 First him if Refrano was aboard, and if so to street, after Bellina had left her and hold him for the New York police. The skipper did not find anybody fitting the description of Rofrano. The three detectives, one of whom knows Rofrano personally, went all over the ship before she docked and failed to find Rofrano or anybody looking like him.

Children were with her—one of them 7 months, the other 2 years old.
